—The community was shocked at an early hour Saturday morning when it was learned that Mr. S. D. Ardery, one of our most prominent citizens had been found dead in his bed. He had been suffering for the past two weeks with a slight attack of grippe, but his condition was not thought to be serious, so slight was it that he was not confined to his bed. At 2 o'clock Saturday morning he was heard in his room stirring up his fire. His little niece went to call him to breakfast and meeting with no response she reported it to the other members of the family. His nephew, Mr. Wm. Ardery, went to his room and found him lying on his left side, cold and stiff in the embrace of death. Mr. Ardery was 78 years of age and was married early in life to Mrs. Josie McIlvain, nee Miss Josie Lindsay. For many years he was an extensive mule dealer, shipping largely to the Southern States. He was a native of the community in which he died. After the death of his wife, which occurred many years ago, he has resided with his nephews, Mr. William Ardery. He was a Christian gentleman, of noble character and a member of the Methodist church. He loved his friends and was true to them. This extreme love in many cases has operated financially to his disadvantage. Funeral services were held yesterday morning at 10:30 o'clock from the Methodist church by Rev. William Morris, assisted by Rev. H. R. Laird; after which he was laid to rest in the Millersburg cemetery.

—Doug Thomas has received from Dr. C. A. Love, of Paris, Tenn., a promising five-year-old green mare by William Penn, 2:07, the dam of Hettie G. 2:04. Mr. Thomas had this mare a short while last fall and drove her a mile in 2:19. The mare will be placed in active training as soon as the weather will permit and he hopes to race her at a number of State and county fairs.

House Plants.

If house plants droop from no apparent cause, and refuse to thrive, try watering them solely by pouring warm water into the saucers every day. Plants love bottom heat, and it will sometimes give them a new lease of life.

A Live Church.

The following gives you an idea of the good work that is being done by the Christian church, in this city, with that untiring Christian man, Elder Carey E. Morgan at the helm:

Last Sunday morning, a week ago, $600 was taken up to support a Living Link Millionary in India. It is to go to A. J. Grainger, who has charge of the Boys Orphanage at Harda, India.

The Christian Woman's Board of Missions of the same church supports Mrs. Nora Collins Ireland, who is a Missionary in Porto Rico.

The Christian Endeavor Society supports Clare E. Hill, at Mobile, Ala., who is National Superintendent of the Christian Endeavor Societies of the Christian church in America.

One member of the Paris C. W. B. M. is supporting an orphan in India.

The Paris church is supporting W. J. Dodge, a missionary at Jackson, Ky.

The Christian Endeavor is supporting an orphan in India.

The Junior Endeavor is supporting an orphan in India. The Pastor's Aid Society is educating a girl at Morehead, Ky.

The Paris church is also a regular contributor to the Christian Church Orphans Home in Louisville.

In addition to this they pay their pastor a good salary, and care for many of the needy in Paris. Just prior to Christmas 500 bushels of coal were distributed to the poor of Paris by this congregation and many baskets filled with provisions gladdened the homes of the needy.

The above demonstrates what good a real live church can do.

Dog Duplicates On Stage What He Has Done In Real Life.

The two large St. Bernard dogs which figure prominently in the last act of "The Volunteer Organist" attract no little attention, both on the stage when equipped with blankets and tiny barrels of liquor, they start out in search of a child lost in the snow, but also on the street as they are taken to and from the theatre.

Cato, the larger and fiercer looking of the dogs, is a genuine imported St. Bernard, and in his native land, Switzerland, had a life saving record. He is twelve years of age, weighs 118 pounds and was imported by a New York Brewer, who paid $1,800 for him.

Despite his ferocious looks, Cato is as gentle as a kitten and is a prime favorite with the members of the company. He has been with "The Volunteer Organist" production for five seasons.

The other dog which answers to the name of Mardo, comes of St. Bernard stock, although Nova Scotia and not Switzerland is the land of his birth. He is about five years of age and his stage career comprises a couple of seasons.

On the road Cato and Mardo travel in the special scenery car. Mardo recently distinguished himself by disappearing while the company was enroute from Washington to Baltimore. While the train was standing at a junction a railroad employee opened the door of the scenery car for a moment and Mardo "ducked out" for a breath of fresh air and a glimpse of the country.

It was Sunday night and Mardo's absence was not noticed until the following morning, when the scenery car was opened in Philadelphia, enough water and food having been left to last the dog until that time. For awhile there was consternation in the company, which was shortly relieved by a telegraph message from the junction saying that Mardo was there and would be sent on at once.

Both Cato and Mardo seem to enjoy their stage stunts, which they perform with enthusiasm expressed in barks and capers. The only demand they make is that their salary in the form of liberal allowances of food be paid three times a day.

Theatregoers will have a chance of seeing these famous dogs as "The Volunteer Organist" is booked to appear at the Grand Friday night, March 15.

Generous Perkins.

Out of his own pocket, George W. Perkins has refunded to the New York Life the $50,000 campaign contribution made to the Republican National Committee in the 1906 campaign. Perkins paid the money for the company, at the request of President McCall, and afterward was paid from the company funds. This use of the corporation's money was criticised in the insurance investigations.
